Dear Hiring Manager,

My name is Jordan Williams and I'm a senior computer science student. I'm currently looking to gain experience in this field and grow my skillset as a future software engineer. I'm a fast learner who will be dedicated to the job at hand. I'm skilled in programming languages such as C++, python and html.

I'm right for the job for a number of reasons. First being, I work well with people. I know how to collaborate with a team in order to ensure the best results. Another one is that I love to program and the way it continually challenges me. Finally, I love learning. As with most things, a learning curve is to be expected and I intend to approach it head on. I'm excited to gain experience and show what I can do.

In conclusion, I'm a hard, but smart worker. I know how to solve a problem when it's given to me. I come up with my own solutions and ideas, and I do my best every time. I want to learn as much as I can and improve my abilities. If you're looking to add an innovative, logical, excited member to your team, then I am your man. I hope that you consider me for the position. Thank you for your time.

Sincerely,

Jordan Williams
